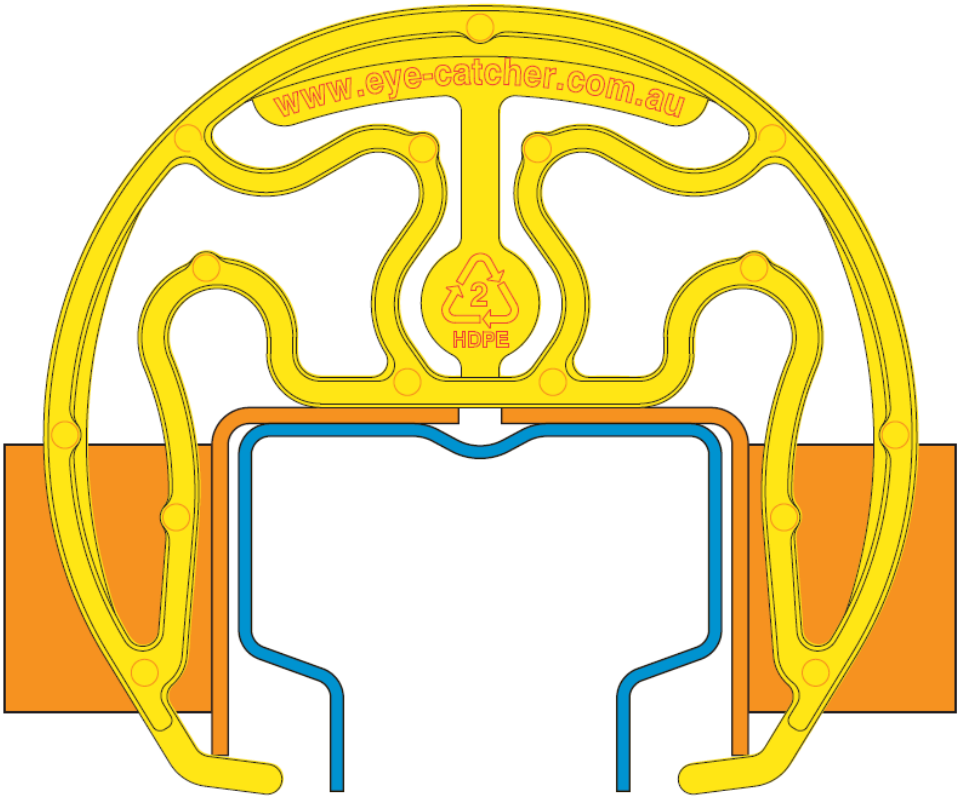
Technical Bulletin 006 – Attaching Protect-it™ to a beam connector

We offer a wide range of Protect-it™ products to suit many different racking sizes and brands.
Did you know that Protect-it pallet rack column protectors also offer the unique ability to attach around the beam connectors?


The attached image demonstrates how our Protect-it 101C will fit around the beam connector (most brands)
This application enables Protect-it to offer column protection where load bearing beams are positioned very low to the floor. This feature is unique to the Protect-it™ range of products.
